- VAT Coding and Table Updates

VAT Coding

Except for users based in Northern Ireland, the EC VAT Codes (usually C / X) should not be used for transactions from the January 1st 2021.

For users in Northern Ireland EC VAT Codes will remain in use.

Generally, excluding NI, customers/suppliers in the EU should be processed as you would do any customers/suppliers from the rest of the world.

Customers - Default Customer VAT Codes can be amended to use the “Exempt” VAT code (note exempt on the VAT table does not mean out of scope of UK VAT) – this would be ‘E’ on our default table.

Suppliers - Importers will have the option to use Postponed VAT Accounting (PVA) from 1st January 2021 for all imports, not just arrivals from the EU. You do not have to register to use PVA, it is open to any UK business that holds a UK VAT Registration No. However, you will need to register with the Customs Declaration Service to access your PVA figures.

Under PVA no C79 certificate will be issued, instead your customs declaration will generate an online Monthly Postponed Import VAT Statement – this can be used to account for and recover import VAT as input tax on the next VAT return. C79 VAT Certificates will still be issued where VAT is paid on importation.

Generally, under C79 (when no certificate has yet been received) or under PVA, purchase invoices will be posted using the ‘E’ VAT code. If using both schemes, then you may wish to consider separate VAT codes for ease of analysis and auditability.

A Nominal Journal can be used on receipt of the C79 Certificate / Monthly PVA Statement to reclaim the import VAT.

Duty invoices should be processed as normal.
